and the LaRue and Napoleon leagues tied for sixth place with 61 points.

Many Activities
Leagues that go to Lakeside with the intention of putting up a battle for the big loving cup of first award, are under certain obligations. If a league intends to try for first place, each delegate must be registered and each must attend every class. There are tennis matches, swimming meets and track meets for both boys and girls. Nights are set aside for religious dramas, stunts, tableaux, and songs. Posters are presented and judged.

Each of the various fields named holds a given number of points for first, second and third places and at the close of the institute the league having the most points is presented with the loving cup.

Paul Sultzbach wrote the words of the winning song, "Three Cheers for Lakeside." The Prospect girls led by Peg Sites, assisted by Elizabeth Dill, Evelyn Northrup and Mary Elizabeth Cropper, won the girls' track meet. Miss Sites won the girls' singles in tennis and with Esther Keller won second on the tennis doubles. This gave Prospect first place in the girls' tennis matches.

Boys Take Second
The boys won second in the track meet. Weaver Emery, Floyd Emery, Paul Sultzbach, Bob Sultzbach, Harry Reynolds and Orlan Lindley were on the team. The Prospect poster won third place and six points toward the club.

Prospect won 10 points for having every delegate registered and 15 points because each member won a certificate. Paul Sultzbach and Weaver Emery were put in charge of general methods classes. Miss Keller helped the league to victory by singing "Open the Gates of the Temple," at the talent night program. On stunt night the league presented the Bear Circus. "We Must Be Thankful" was presented as a tableau and the program was "True Pilgrims."

Tonight the Freeman Bible class, the adult class of the Prospect church will honor the winning league with a party at the John Sites home in Prospect.

"NO WONDER I'M ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT KONJOLA"

So Says Youngstown Lady In Relating Her Experience With Modern Compound.

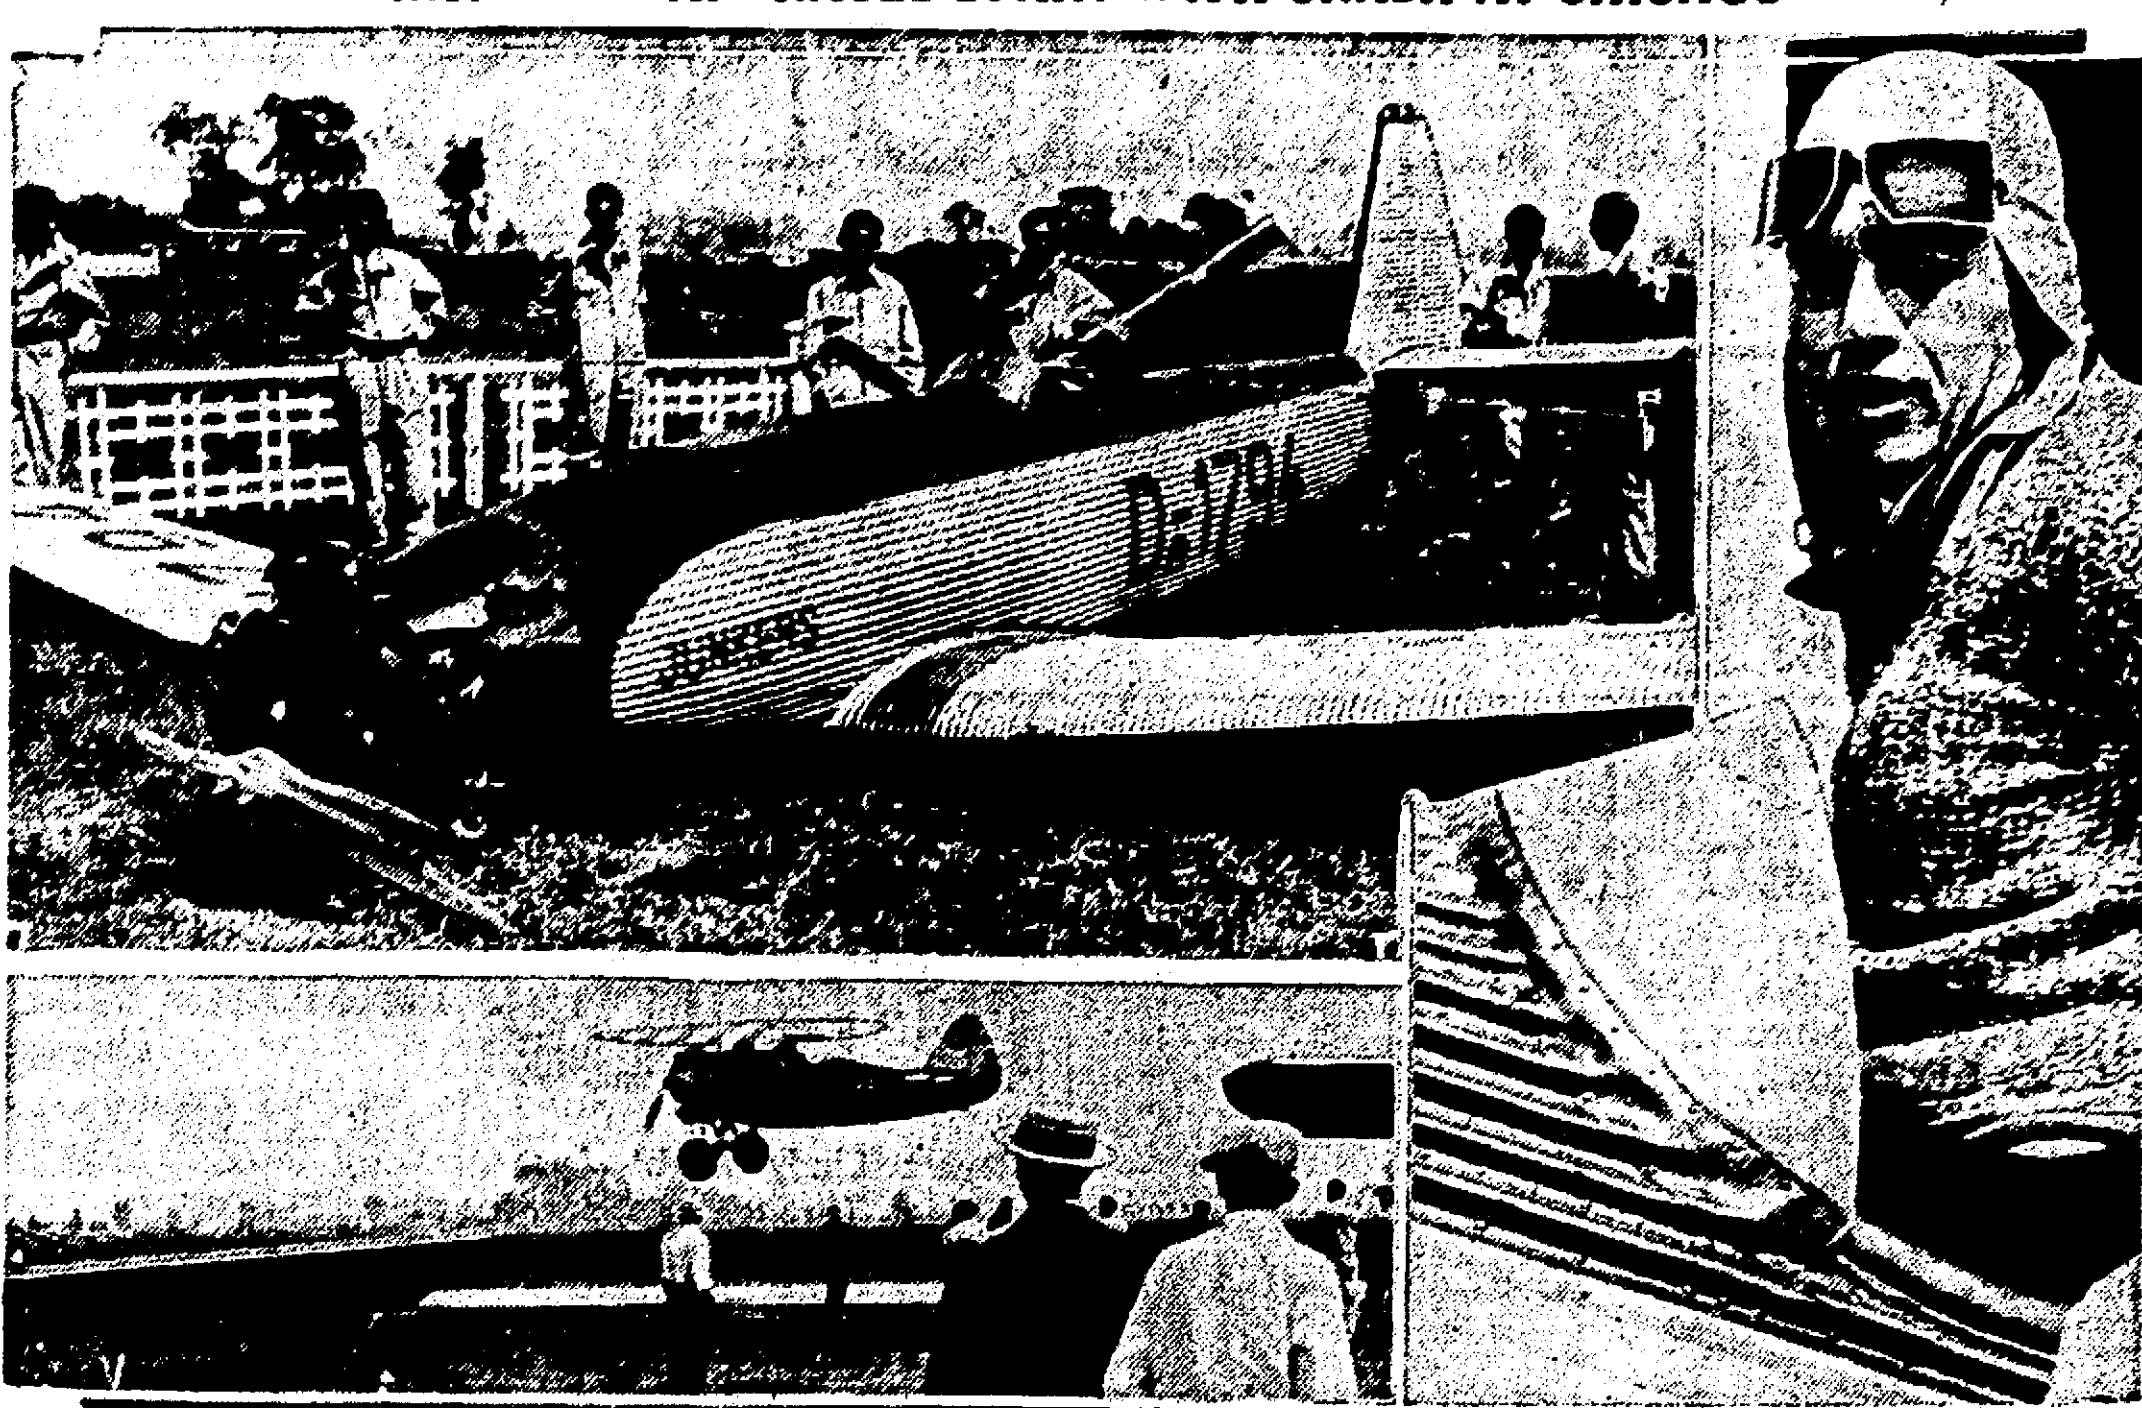

MRS. LAURA GALLAGHER

Sufferers want relief, not promises. Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Consider the case of Mrs. Laura Gallagher, 410 North Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, and then decide what you will do about this new and different medicine:

"No wonder I'm enthusiastic about Konjola after what it did for me. I suffered long and terribly with indigestion, headache, nervousness and constipation. I tried no end of medicine, and all failed under weight. But Konjola surely gave me the surprise of my life. In four weeks I was like another person. Life is bright to me now, for I never expected to enjoy such glorious health again."

So it goes, victory after victory when Konjola is given a chance to prove why seven million bottles of this amazing remedy were used in two years. Konjola is sold in Marion, Ohio, at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

HOLD THREE YOUTHS ON MURDER CHARGE

Slayers of Cleveland at Party Bound to Grand Jury.

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Aug. 26—Three Cleveland youths, with ages ranging from 16 to 20, faced hearings before the Cuyahoga county grand jury today on charges of first degree murder, following their arraignment last night in connection with the death of Miller Wilkinson, 21, which occurred during an attempted holdup of an engagement party held at a Shaker Heights home early yesterday morning. The youths, Mike Bell, 16, Ross Valore, 19, and Angelo Bell, 20, waived preliminary examination. The latter youth was arraigned as he lay in his bed at St. Luke's hospital suffering from a bullet wound in his right knee, received during the attempted holdup. The electric chair will be asked for all three of the youthful robbers, according to First Assistant County Prosecutor P. L. A. Lieghey.

Wilkinson, a Princeton university senior, was shot in the forehead during a scuffle of guests at the party with the three youths as they attempted to rob the party. He died in a hospital a few hours later. Angelo Bell and his brother, Mike, who received a bullet wound in his right arm, were shot by their own guns, according to police. They were arrested a short distance from the scene of the shooting. Valore, who has denied any connection with the affair, was taken into custody at his rooming house late yesterday.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, August 27

The presage for this day, based on the lunar transits of important planets, is not a markedly fortunate one for progressive profitable business transactions, although domestic social and affectional advantages and felicities may prove compensatory. Even in these relations there may be somewhat of the furtive or subtly menacing. There is danger of a sudden disruption as well as loss of money and prestige, unless particular sagacity and sound methods be employed.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which social, domestic and affectional affiliations may be expected to favorably offset adverse and disagreeable business activities. Sudden change is probable with loss of money and prestige, unless particularly good judgment and acumen be exercised in the management of the affairs. Employment and new projects may give concern. Make all changes with wise deliberation. A child born on this day may be restless, nervous and fond of change, but nevertheless should be gracious, talented and personally popular.

TO BUILD WORKSHOP

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26—Philip Timmie, 68, who said he should have stayed a carpenter instead of becoming a bookkeeper was under $1,000 bond today for alleged embezzlement of over $1,000 from the Whitaker, Pa. postoffice which he left in 1922. CHIEF ISSUES ORDERS

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26—Acting Police Chief George J. Malowitz issued orders for three "suspected racketeers" to leave town over the week-end. One was ordered to go to work or leave and three were to leave last night. Eight women were given from a few hours to a few days to leave the city.

AMERICAN BEAUTY.

When all the beauty shows have finally made their selections the fact will remain that Miss Eunice Green, of Delta, Kansas (above), is the world's most beautiful truly American girl. For she is a full-blooded Indian of the Potawatomi tribe, and therefore a real American in every sense of the word.

"Pot" Shot at Neighbor Costs Opera Star $15

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 26—Mme. Ada Paggi, singer with the Ravinia and Civic Opera Companies, was fined $15 yesterday for the "pot" shot she took at a neighbor.

The shot—with a flower pot—was an unmistakable protest on the diva's part against band music played on the radio at 6 o'clock in the morning. It was also unmistakable evidence of a deadly aim.

Mme. Paggi, Magistrate Benjamin Meyer of Glenview was told, had long been irritated by the noisy music coming from the home of Otto and Walter Schultz in the early hours when the brothers were getting up and doing their calisthenics. She said she couldn't sleep with such an inartistic din ringing in her ears.

Finally the temperamental for which the opera stars are famous got the better of her and she let fly the first thing she found—a flower pot. The pot, Walter Schultz told the magistrate, sailed through a window and hit him on the head. Since there is no law against band music and there is a law against throwing heavy objects through windows and against people's heads, the magistrate decided there was only one thing to do and he did it.

All Is Well.

On Sunday afternoon, July 11, 1897, Captain Solomon-Auguste Andree, Nils Strindberg and Knut Frankel gave a signal and their balloon was released from Danes Island, Spitzbergen. It was their intention to fly over the North pole and land somewhere in Alaska, a thing which never had been attempted before but which Captain Andree was convinced could be done by using prevailing currents of wind. A cable received in this country soon afterward and printed in The Star stated that the weather was fair, the wind good and that all was well when the trip started.

Captain Andree and his two companions never were heard from again. Thirty-three years of uncertainty have made of them bizzaro and appealing figures. From time to time there have been reports that messages from them had been found, that part of their equipment had been sighted. The last authentic word from the expedition, however, was taken from a carrier pigeon shot down by some fishermen July 22, eleven days after the start. It revealed only the approximate location of the balloon and was dated July 13.

Now it appears that this 33-year-old mystery of the Arctic has been solved in part. A scientific expedition headed by a Dr. S. Horn claims to have found the bodies of Captain Andree and one of his companions on White Island, Fridtjof Nansen Land. On older maps this island appears in the group known as Franz Josef Land. With Captain Andree's body was found a diary which, although not yet opened, is expected to reveal the story of the expedition. Dr. Horn has deduced from evidence found with the bodies that Captain Andree and one companion landed safely and were waiting rescue when they perished.

The discovery of their bodies in a corking story, even as it exists now in the sketchy form of an unsubstantiated report. Some time in September when the sealer Brattvaag reaches Norway with the evidence it may turn out to be an undisputed story. In the meantime, at least until Captain Andree's diary is published, it is permissible to be skeptical. Perhaps, it is safer to be skeptical. Had no one doubted Captain Frederik A. Cook, he might have been a Polar hero. That, too, was a corking good story while it lasted.

Ruga advises tell of the leaving of thirteen sand-looking girls for Leningrad, young dancers brought over here by Irma Duncan and sent home following trouble with soviet representatives over here. Russians who hope to remain here for professional engagements make the mistake of their lives by divulging their appreciation of "capitalistic America."

Chicago's "Gold Coast" may now appreciate the truth of the old saw to the effect that troubles never come singly. No sooner had it succeeded in temporarily bridging the city over its financial difficulties than it learned that the city's "airplane bootlegger de luxe" had been apprehended by detectives and jailed.

Two Indianapolis men who drank from the bottle of a friend escaped punishment, their act being held to be outside the law, but the friend, in a pocket of whose car, parked near a dance hall, they found the bottle, was placed under a bond of $2,500 on a charge of possession. People simply can not be too careful about looking their cars when parking them.

The pastor of the Church of Divine Science in New York City is being grilled in regard to his part in selling thousands of shares of allegedly worthless stock to his parishioners. In the light of more or less recent disclosures, it might be the course of wisdom for pastors to steer clear of the stock and bond business. It seldom, if ever, makes a good teammate for the pastoral work.

Scott Turner, director of the United States bureau of mines, announces that all the gold mined in the world from the time of the discovery of America up to and including 1927, could be cast into a thirty-five-foot cube, the aggregate production having been 1,003,500,000 ounces, of which 676,278,000 ounces, or more than half, were mined during the first twenty-seven years of the present century. Here we have the explanation of gold as the world's standard of value. Its rarity.

Harvey Wiley Corbett, the New York architect who designed the Bush building in London, that city's one outstanding office building of the American type, told a gathering of British architects that in twenty or thirty years a 100-story building would be considered antiquated in New York. As it is, New Yorkers are something in the way of canyon dwellers, but if we are to credit Mr. Corbett the worst is yet to come.

Giving Names Away.

There always is something to be thankful for—if it is necessary to look for something. Consider the seventy-five mounts of the British polo squad, which will compete in the international games at Meadow Brook next month.

Fine horses, seventy-five sleek, well-trained valuable animals. Polo experts claim that a good polo pony actually thinks and any one who has seen one in action will agree. It is, then, to the names that one must turn to find comfort.

There are Silver Morn, Marksman and Bun Worry. There are Balloon, Goldfinch, The Nun, Chorus Girl and Marie Sol. There are Cross Stitch, Pocket Pistol, Peter Pan, Carnation, Joy Bells, Spook and Splash—to say nothing of Luna, Blue Heaven, Royal Flush, Sincerity, Mystery and Carnation. And then, too, there are Manuel, Holly, Jupiter, Miramar, Margaret, Carlos, Timon, Pindennis and Amber. But these latter names, of familiar ring and interchangeable with recognized Christian names, are few and far between.

Dwell upon the name you might hear had you been named as polo ponies are named—from some association or characteristic. Think of your friends who might have earned such labels as: Slobber, Squealer, Kick High, Too-in-the-Mouth and Sleepless Nights. Or if chaste names were to be put off until a more mature age, as it is in the case of polo ponies and race horses, there would be Tabby, Shorty, Beantalk, Dude, Huncher, Welcher, Sissy and Bully—names which might be convenient as descriptions of character or appearance, but awkward on letter heads.

Be thankful, then, for the sedateness of Henry, John, Samuel, Parker, Tony and Joseph. They mean nothing, they might as well be numbers. But they give nothing away either. A polo pony's secrets are out, even when he gets nothing but his name in the papers.

The New York state senate is considering a house bill providing for the permanent revocation of the driving license of any motorist twice convicted of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated where personal injury has resulted in each instance. There's a safety-first proposition, all right.

You never can tell. Since the fact that Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church has been given a permit to carry a pistol has become public, there's no way of figuring on how soon the women folks may be toting guns. There's an element of the sex which is mighty quick to go to those they consider leaders in the social world.

The body of a prehistoric woolly rhinoceros has been dug up in Poland, the second find of the kind there, and it is so well preserved that it will be necessary for scientists to dissect it to study its structure. From stories had from Poland, one may understand how even a rhinoceros might appreciate a woolly covering over them at present, and it's enough warmer over there now that it must have been at the time this particular rhinoceros was frozen solid in the ice.

City of Bar-le-Duc.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

It wasn't so long ago that most people in the United States immediately thought of a particularly toothsome jam when they heard the name Bar-le-Duc. I doubt if many of them even knew that it is the name of one of the oldest and by no means the least attractive little cities in France. Yet it is.

Of course, because of the war a great many American men knew about Bar-le-Duc, because a lot of them were there. The American First Army headquarters were located at Souilly, about twenty miles from Bar-le-Duc on the road to Verdun—the road over which the French army hustled to turn the Germans back from their attack on that celebrated fortress. And before that a small band of Americans known as the American Ambulance field service, operating with the French army before the United States went in and saved democracy, found Bar-le-Duc a delightful haven in which to rest up from their jobs of transporting French wounded.

The city gets its name from the fact that in the eleventh century the feudal dukes of Bar—probably a contraction of Barrois—ruled the roost with a high hand. It will pay the visitor today to climb up the long staircase which leads to the chateau of these feudal lords, or, rather, what remains of it, and from there look down over a quiet little town. One should also visit the Hotel-de-Ville, once the home of a distinguished native named Charles Nicolas Odunot.

Many of the houses erected in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries still line the streets and there is, of course, the usual square in the center of the city, used by the American Ambulance to park their cars while they hustled over to the public bath-house to rid themselves of various things collected in the course of their work at the front. And many a staid member of society could tell you some stories about that bath-house—if he would. I won't.

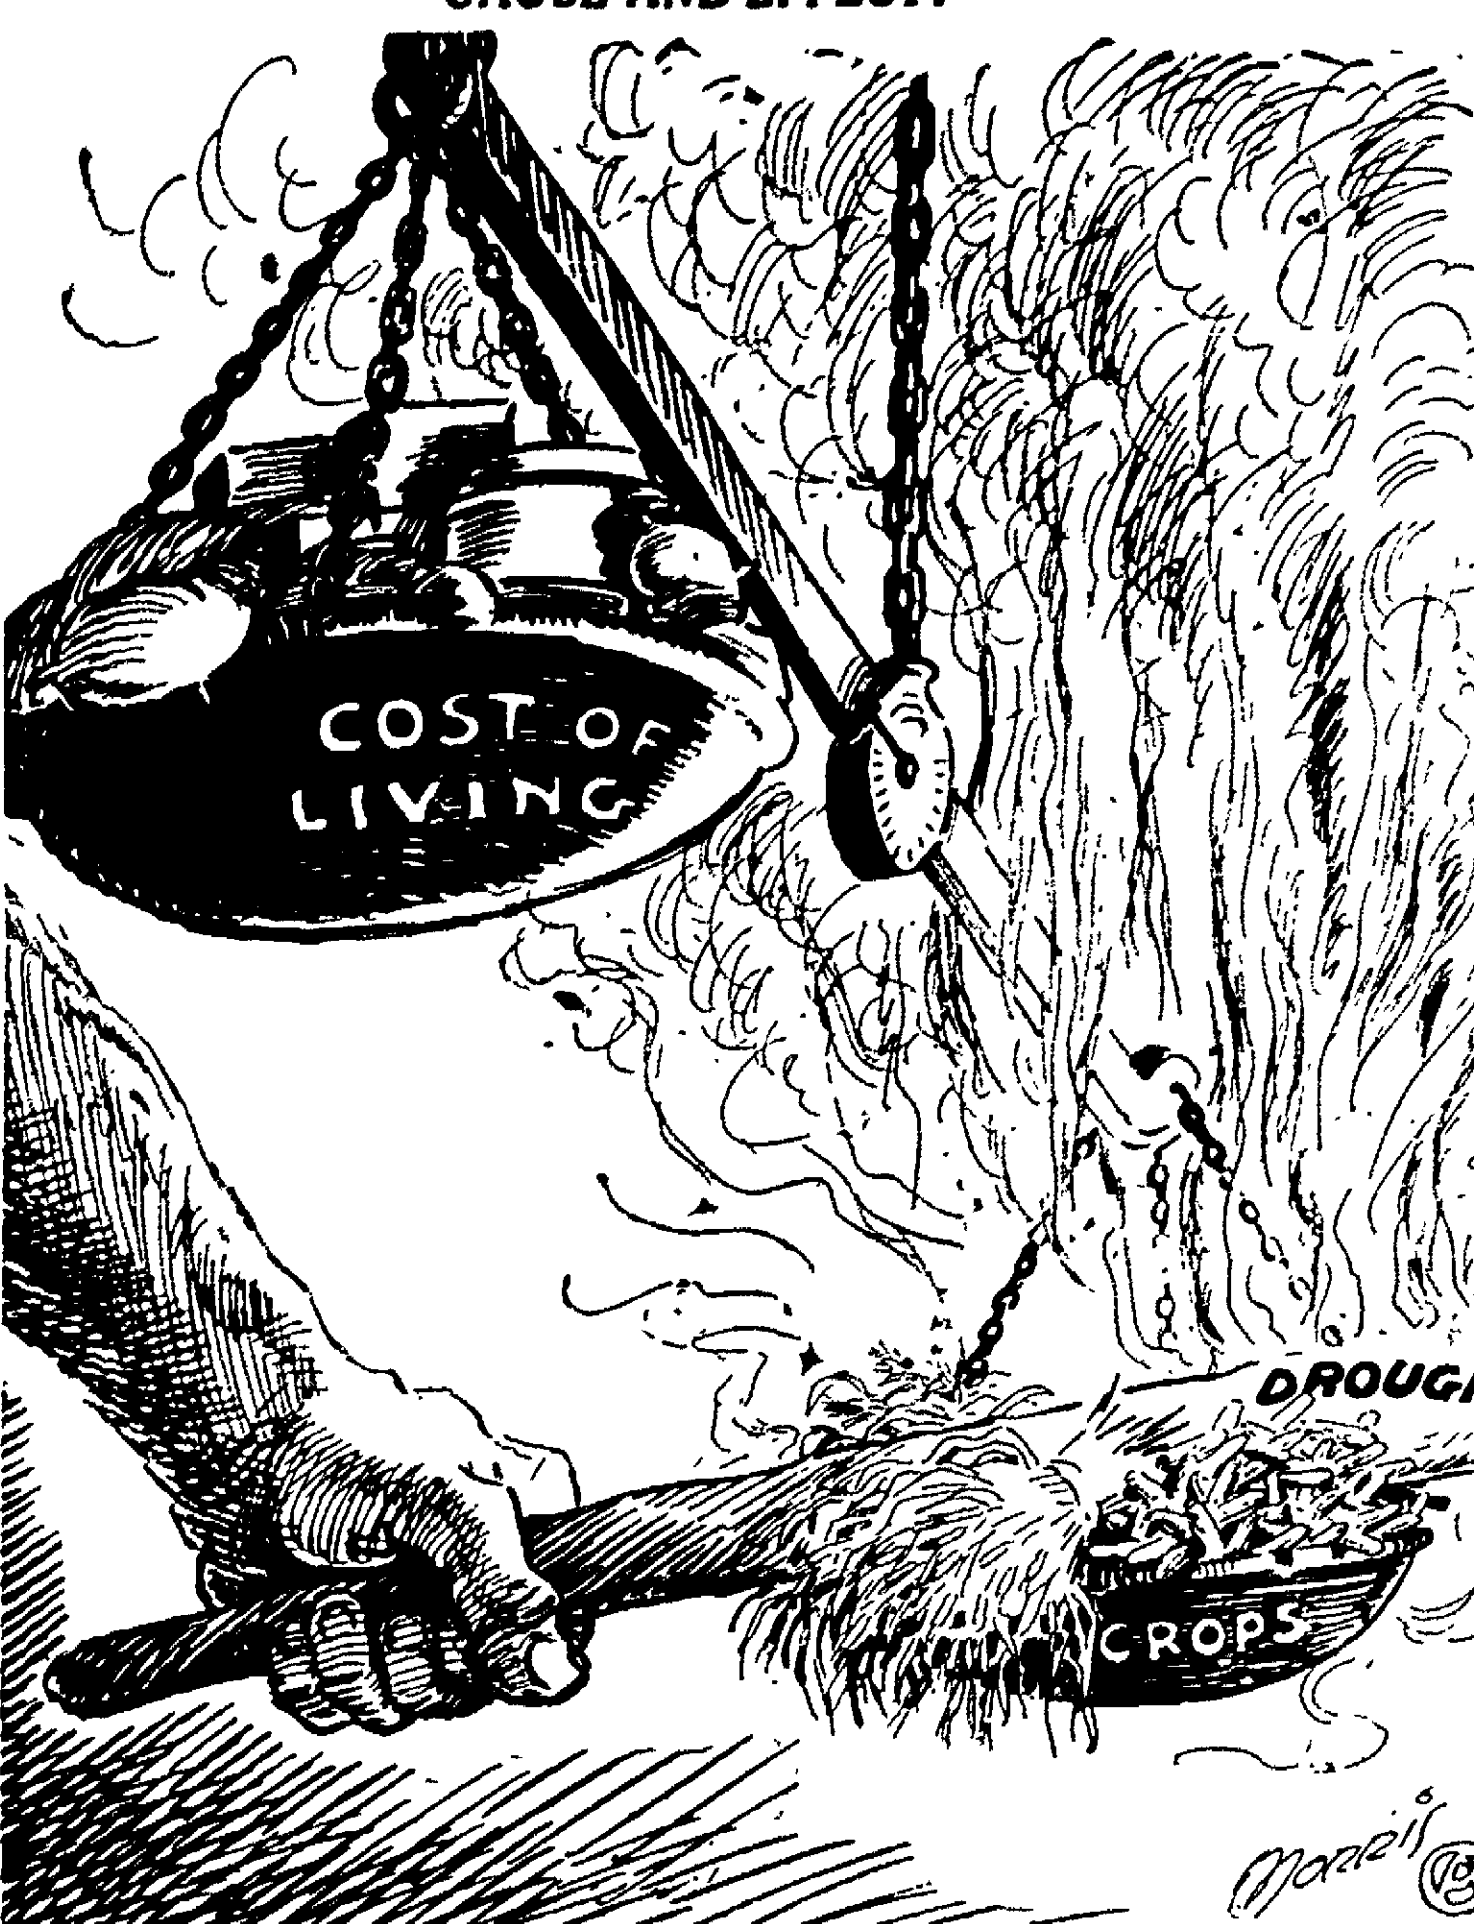

There is running through the center of the city a long, quiet street, ill-paved—at least it was when I was there last—and showing the marks of many air raids by the Germans. The houses, the streets have, of course, been filled, but one finds here and there a tablet to commemorate some particular raid and the death and destruction it brought to that particular house.

The residents of Bar-le-Duc know how to eat other things than jam and how to cook and serve them. There are two good hotels, one quite up-to-date and the other for the old-timers. Each has a good restaurant where excellent foods and wines are to be had at reasonable prices. One of the attractive features of Bar-le-Duc is the fact that apparently it has not discovered yet what good pickings the American tourist is.

Bar-le-Duc is situated on the main line of the Eastern railway—Chemin de Fer de l'Est—which runs from Châlons-sur-Marne to Nancy. The city is the capital of the Department of the Meuse, "where the red tape of the district is manufactured," as an American officer once expressed it. It is also a pleasant motor ride from Paris, taking which one goes through Meaux and Shalons, both historic for more reasons than one.

Bar-le-Duc has other industries than the jam which made its name famous over the entire world. These include the manufacture of machinery, hosiery, flannel goods, forests—though probably that industry has fallen off—wall-paper and cotton-spinning. Among its articles of commerce are wines, weaving and leather-dressing. And don't forget the stand-by of the ambulance, the Negrita rum. If you want to know more about this, ask the man who drank one.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Editorial Opinion.

A FRESH QUEST FOR DRY FACTS.

The determination of Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, United States director of prohibition, to have his bureau gather its own statistical information as to the progress and results of prohibition enforcement entirely from disinterested sources deserves hearty applause. It will meet a long-felt want. For years there has been need of a thorough survey of the liquor question by some agency which the voter who still is on the fence might accept as unbiased and authentic.

It may be too much to hope that the findings of the federal bureau will be accepted by extreme wets if the findings are dry, or by the extreme dries if the findings are wet. But whatever the findings may be, the evident sincerity of Mr. Woodcock's purpose speaks confidence in their soundness. Persons acquainted with the work of the Scientific Temperance Foundation, the World League Against Alcoholism, the Alcohol Information committee and other similar organizations are convinced that their researches are carried out with as complete insistence upon academic veracity as one could wish. Nevertheless, there will be great value in a new and unpartisan investigation of the same subject matter from a fresh beginning. There is every reason to believe that honest, independent investigation will corroborate and substantiate in great measure the claims made for prohibition by its adherents.

If these studies bring out important criticisms of the working of prohibition, none should be more grateful than the prohibitionists. If there are faults to be remedied, let them be known that they may be remedied.

If prohibition, as a system, is as unworkable as its opponents declare, establishment of that point by this investigation will prove helpful in the long run. What prohibitionists want is a system that, while aiming at the elimination of the liquor traffic, will effectively control it. If the operation of the Volstead act is not achieving that end, drys want to know about it in order to put their weight behind a plan that will. Evils are destroyed not by ignoring them but by facing them.

But until far stronger evidence is added against prohibition than has thus far appeared, millions of its supporters throughout the United States will demand its continuance, and will attest their faith in it by endorsing such projects for earnest and dispassionate investigation of its results as that set forth by Mr. Woodcock.—Christian Science Monitor.

LABOR AND THE COMMUNISTS.

With the American Federation of Labor "uncompromisingly opposed," as its president, William Green, says, "to Communism and to the Communist philosophy," there seems to be little need for him to express fear of Communist activities in this country to engineer a revolution. The attitude of the federation may be taken as a fair indication of the attitude of most of the people who inhabit the United States, and with an uncompromising opposition to Communism it is difficult to imagine just how it can gain a foothold.

There seldom has been a time in the history of this country when there was an absence of alleged revolutionary activity. Some fantastic political notion always is being advanced for the consideration of that supposed down-trodden element which exists theoretically, but which actually is hard to find. The people of the United States can not, by any stretch of fancy, be so hard-pressed politically as to want to abandon the present government for one whose attributes are unknown.

There has never been a system of government that offers as much opportunity for individual satisfaction of wants as the one we live under. That is an obvious fact that ought not need repetition, but when people of influence become frightened at the political activities of the apparently misguided, it is a fact well worth calling attention to.—Ohio State Journal.

Planetary Cosmogony.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

According to the tidal theory of planetary hypothesis, when two stars pass close to one another without collision, the primary effect must be that each raises tides in the other. The relative speed at which the bodies pass each other also enters as a factor in the problem. Much depends on the relative weights of the passing stars. The star of lesser weight will naturally undergo a greater disturbance than the weightier one. If the influence is very strong, when the approach is close, immense tides "mountain high" will be set up. If the approach is even closer, long filaments of gaseous matter will be pulled out from the body of the star. Under the influence of a familiar principle, that of gravitational instability, this long arm of gaseous matter may begin to form under into condensation points, here and there. Eventually the filament breaks up into a number of detached masses. These masses, under the powerful influence of gravitation, tend to rotate about the primary. Thus a number of planets are born out of the lesser star.

The elements which enter into such a phenomenon introduce much complexity in the problem. After the weightier star has moved on, the planets which at first must have described highly complicated orbits due to the gravitational pull of both stars, settle down to motion in a more regular path. These paths will be regular ovals, or ellipses, as they are called. As the planets form a considerable debris, chiefly in the form of dust or gas, their orbits tend to become ever more circular in shape. In time the scattered debris would be swept up and the orbits would thus fall somewhat short of becoming exactly circular.

In speaking of the formation of the eight major planets, Jeans in "Universe Around Us," says:

"The long filament of matter pulled out of the sun is likely to have been richest in matter in its middle parts, these parts having been pulled out when the second star was nearest, and its gravitational pull was strongest. Diagrammatically at least, we may think of this filament as shaped like a cigar—thick near the middle, thin at the ends—so that when condensations begin to form, those near the middle are likely to be richer in matter than those at the ends. This probably explains why the two most massive planets, Jupiter and Saturn, occupy the middle positions in the sequence of planets."

The satellites of the planets are brought into existence in much the same way. As one of the planets, in its early stage, describes its original erratic orbit and passes near the sun, the latter draws filaments of matter out of the planet; and these now condense into bodies which begin to rotate about the planet and so become its satellites.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Aug. 26.—Dame Luck has been dealing shallow hands to one of the Rialto's picturesque producers—Morris Gest—recently. But like the slogan of salvationists he is "down, but never out." Doubtless he is winding up now for a last-cutting fast one.

It is a Gestion gesture to confound and those who say he is through with a nonchalant comeback. He has done this many times. Ill-health, coupled with an ill-fated theatrical venture, plunged him into bankruptcy recently, with debts of a half million.

But the man who gave New York, Chin Chow, the original Russian baller, Michael Fokine, Ballet's Chauve Souris, the Moscow Art Theater repertory, reintroduced Eleanor Duse and staged the beautiful "Affair" is not likely to become bankrupt of ideas.

Gest is a real life hero in one of those up-from-the-sidewalk careers. Born in Vilna, Russia, he spent boyhood selling newspapers in Boston. Coming to New York, he dabbled in theatricals without making a splash until "Experience" in 1914.

From then on spectacular successes and intermittent failures of Gest became legends of the theater. He publicized himself by wearing a black velvet hat at a rakish angle and sporting a flowing tie. Frequently he would weep in the lobby at first nights.

He had, boo, hoo, spent his last penny—and the premiere would decide his future. It was "great theater," for Gest is a showman. But he cried "Wolf" so often few thought he was beaching on financial shoals until liabilities were spread in newspapers.

Gest has the ballyhoo shrewdness of Barnum, plus a deep understanding of the theater. He dredged mediocre exhibits out of candle-lit Russian cellars and made them so-called "affairs" in New York. His wife is the daughter of David Belasco, also somewhat a showman.

Due perhaps to old Winter Garden presentations, the Shuberts have been linked with the rowdy type of musical shows. Certain productions featuring a jovial comeliness were known as "Shubert shows." Yet during the past season they gave the town four of its most artistic plays in "Topaze," "Death Takes a Holiday," "The Infinite Shoeblick" and "Bird in Hand."

An unusual calling is that of a lady who inspects private library bindings and prevents them from curling and decay. She uses a salve, rubbed in expertly, and the job is not only lucrative, but brings her in touch with the best people.

Today while roaming the majestic midtown glitter with its stepping towers, brassy fronts and restless electric daze, I somehow thought of those grey streets in London, especially the narrow Strand and the shy alleys dipping down to the Thames. It would have been pleasant to hear the ineluctable cry of the muffin men, the chant of old ladies selling heather, and most of all the spiel of the Punch and Judy show.

Yet such longings are quickly cured. I notice three talented gentlemen—Frank Ward O'Malley, Adolphe Menjou and Ralph Barton—who fled America during the past three years to remain permanently, are back kissing Times square paving stones and hugging avenue lampposts.

Somebody has been clipping my column from a western paper daily, writing across it in red pencil "O, yeah" and mailing it to me. Today the stamp was uncancelled and I, like a dirty little thief swiped it. I guess that's getting even, hey, fat head?

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Aug. 26.—On the third floor of a dingy old building across the street from the building that houses the war department sits a woman at a desk in a bare room. She is "carrying on" at a job she began many years ago.

It was back in 1917—on the night that the roll of the house of representatives was called to record a vote on whether or not this country should enter the World war—that Jeanette Rankin broke into world prominence.

Then she was the first woman ever to be elected to the congress of the United States. When her name was called she could not answer. When cries of "Vote, vote" were hurled at her by her colleagues, with tears in her eyes and in a voice scarcely audible, she voted "No."

Today Jeanette Rankin feels the same way.

In her little office in Washington at headquarters for the National Council for the Prevention of War she is hard at work in an effort to insure peace for this country for all time.

The Jeanette Rankin of today in appearance is not the Jeanette Rankin of those war days.

Her hair has grown grayer, her face bears evidence of the lapse of years from the time she was in congress until now.

During the days before ratification of the London naval treaty, when the past was before the senate committee on foreign affairs and then during the special session where it was ratified, she was a familiar figure on capitol hill.

In the committee room and from a point of vantage in the gallery in the senate chamber she was to be seen. With eagerness she watched progress of the treaty through its various stages.

She serves the National Council for the Prevention of War in the capacity of a sort of legislative secretary. It is her duty to keep an eye on legislation in which her organization is interested.

She manifests much enthusiasm for her work and the cause she represents. Those who knew her as Representative Rankin from Montana and now as merely Jeanette Rankin, of Missoula, Montana, say there has been no change in her ideals, thoughts and enthusiasms.

TAX LEVY PROPOSAL KILLED BY COUNCIL

Mayor Calls Conference To Determine Financial Retrenchment Policy.

Mayor calls for the proposed one mill levy had been prepared by the city auditor Carter Patton before the meeting last night. A long discussion preceded the decision of the city governing body to decline to ask for the extra levy.

White Way Approved

After refusing in the caucus session to allow the proposed one mill levy to be placed on the tax duplicate, the city council passed an ordinance in open meeting assuring that the city another thoroughfare with a white way lighting system such as that now in use on Center street.

Main street between George and Columbia streets is to have 63 lights such as now in use on Center street. Fifteen will remain lighted all night and the other 48 to be turned out at 11:30 p. m.

The ordinance empowered the city service director to enter into a contract with the C. D. & M. Electric Co. for the installation of the equipment and for the lighting current for their operation.

The lights that are to burn all night are to cost the city $7 each a month and the remaining 48 are to cost $2 less. They will be installed as the present project of widening and repaving Main street progresses.

Order Sale of Bonds

Provisions were made by council for the sale of improvement bonds having a total value of $68,678.51. The bonds are to be issued to pay the cost of several street projects completed last year.

An ordinance was passed by council authorizing Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine to advertise for bids for the purchase and installation of certain fire alarm equipment. The equipment is to replace obsolete and inefficient apparatus now in use. It is estimated that the new equipment will cost approximately $20,000.

A request of last week by Municipal Court Judge William R. Mason for $800 for operating expenses of the municipal court was paid to two-thirds that amount last night. The sum of $200 was given for the stationery and printing expenses and the same amount for incidentals. The city auditor was given $100 for incidental expenses and the fire department was allowed $150 for expenses in its operation.

slapstick route but in 1912 he became an extra in Western films. He received his first screen credit in 1914 from Universal for appearance in a leading role in "Hell Morgan's Girl."

With his portrayal of "The Frog" in the "Miracle Man" came Chaney's shift from slapsticks and Westerns to the grotesque characterizations that made him famous. Early this year he signed a five year contract. The "Speakeasy" was no terror to the former musical show comedian.

Wholly self-educated, he was a voracious reader and a student of many subjects. He wrote the Encyclopedia Britannica's chapter on screen makeup. Through often portraying the cripple or deformed character, Chaney off the lot was athletic and strong. His hobbies were fishing, football and prize fighting.

ment palace and demanded to see the Junta leader.

A student committee was sent inside and Daniel Carneiro, its leader, told Ponce that Leguia should be held along with other politicians of the defunct regime who had "misused the public funds" to answer for their crimes.

General Ponce replied that the Junta had decided to punish all the misdeeds of the old politicians and that under no circumstances would Leguia be allowed to leave Peru.

There was some question when and whether Colonel Sanchez Cerro would arrive in Lima from Arequipa. It was supposed his decision to come here, or to oppose the regime established here, would depend upon a conference with a commission which is going to Arequipa by plane today or tomorrow.

With martial law the Junta gradually gained complete control of the streets, dispersing crowds and breaking up disorders until finally things resumed their normal course. Soldiers were everywhere, however, and the street were full of rumors which could not be run down.

DISPOSAL OF $32,000
FUND UNDECIDED YET

"Boys in Blue" Defer Problem of Distributing Money Another Year.

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 26—Disposal of a permanent fund of $32,000, a question that has been before the Grand Army of the Republic for five years, remained undecided today as the thinning line of civil war veterans buckled down to the business sessions of their sixty-fourth annual encampment.

The problem of distributing the money after the last G. A. R. veteran has passed on, again was deferred another year as the members decided the time was not ripe for such action. Numerous suggestions have been offered in the past. If the fund is not needed by members of the G. A. R. to this list has been added a suggestion to devote it to paying off indebtedness on Grant's tomb on Riverside Drive, New York City, and to repair the tomb. Another is to erect a memorial to Clara Barton, whose efforts in behalf of civil war veterans won her world wide recognition.

The veterans were welcomed as the "survivors of the greatest epoch in American history" by Governor Myers Y. Cooper at a public reception last night. "But for your achievement," he said, "Washington would have striven in vain, popular government would have died and the idealism which triumphed in the Spanish-American and World wars would not have appeared in history and eventuated in victory."

Free Love Investigation of Akron Cult Lags

By The Associated Press
AKRON, O., Aug. 26—A police investigation into report of a "love cult" apparently was at an end today.

Sgt. Thomas Lynett, head of the vice squad, said he contemplated no action unless further charges are filed after a talk last night with the pastor named in complaints of friends of Clifford Butler, 22. The complainant charged free love was taught both negro and white members of the "Kingdom House" and that Butler the sole support of his parents, had been lured into the house.

Arthur Brisbane's Today

HOWEVER, one American known to everybody in the United States because he is able and has made many millions and is conspicuous in politics, finds one hopeful cloud the size of a man's hand and bigger.

Brokers' loans, says he, have diminished by five billions of dollars. They were eight billions in boom times. They are around three billions now. Those loans represent money that stock speculators and investors owe on stocks bought, not paid for.

If the brokers' loans dropped five billions, it means that five billions have been paid and the stocks taken up. At least that is the theory.

Putting the average price of stocks thus taken up at $50, this would mean that 100,000,000 shares of stock have been taken "out of the market."

Calvin Coolidge says the whole world is benefited by the French revival of financial power. He puts in few words qualities that make the French a great people. "No one can estimate the future resources of a country that is willing to work, save and face facts."

In addition, the French know how to think and how to fight for their rights.

And French statesmen do all their worrying ABOUT FRANCE. They do not worry about us or any other COUNTRY, ONLY ABOUT FRANCE.

When this country stops worrying about other countries, taking advice or instructions from them, going across the ocean to learn what the United States must do, we also may "revive."

Wolfgang von Gronau, German flier, and his crew of three, bound for New York, arrived in Halifax yesterday. Von Gronau, says his flight across the Atlantic via Iceland to Greenland was just a part of a flying lesson that he is giving.

He should turn to the right on his way to New York and land his seaplane on the smooth waters of Lake Michigan, near the Field Museum in Chicago.

The greatest air meeting in the world's history is going on here this week and he would be warmly welcomed.

You, if you can manage it, should go out and see that gathering of world fliers.

LEETONIA FIRE DOES DAMAGE OF $100,000

Three Business Blocks in Small Ohio Town Swept by Flames.

By Brush-Moore Leased Wire
LEETONIA, O., Aug. 26—Fire here this morning destroyed three business blocks in the heart of the downtown section. Loss is estimated at $100,000. Fire departments from Saloon, Lisbon, Columbiana and Leetonia responded. For a time it was feared that the flames would sweep over the entire business section.

The fire which started in a pool room was first noticed shortly after 4 a. m. It was under control at 7.

The municipal building was entirely destroyed and it is feared that city records have been lost. A bank was also badly damaged. Lodge rooms of the Masonic order and the Eagles are entirely destroyed. Stock from a jewelry store in one building was removed.

Firemen were still pouring water on two of the buildings at 8:30 this morning in efforts to prevent further spread of the blaze. Police records in the municipal offices were destroyed while fireproof vaults in the bank prevented destruction of valuable banking records.

Stores which were ravaged by the flames are: Hasbrouck Drug store, Johnson Jewelry store, Municipal offices, lodges, W. W. Moff dental office, Burich and Morris drug store, Old Ferguson hotel, Bellhart Shoe store.

Streets are lined with merchandise taken from stores and nearby homes. Buildings ruined in the fire comprise more than one-third of the village's business district.

EATON TELLS COURT OF REPUBLIC MERGER

Baker Attempts To Show Methods Were Same as in Bethlehem Deal.

By International News Service
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 26—The history of the Cyrus S. Eaton formed Republic Steel Corp. by the union of five steel companies was unfolded in common pleas court here today as Newton D. Baker attempted to show that Eaton's merger methods were similar to those employed in negotiating the consolidation of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with Bethlehem Steel Corp.

Step by step, Eaton revealed under the pressure of clever cross-examination by Baker, chief counsel for supporters of the Sheet & Tube Bethlehem merger, the minute details of how he and his associates arrived at the set-up by which Republic Iron & Steel, Central Alloy, Bourne Furnace, Donner Steel, and Trumbull Casts were joined together to form the Republic Steel Corp.

On the grounds of the common pleas court a few excited spectators could be seen as the proceedings unfolded.

leading aviators, is proof that the development of the so-called "flying" plane has reached a point where low-powered, low-priced aircraft will be able to compete successfully with the highest-powered commercial aircraft being flown.

Cliff Henderson, general manager of the races, predicted that competitions for the low-powered craft this year will result in revolutionary advances in design and speed for all planes in the popular-priced class-machines that hitherto have averaged less than 100 miles an hour.

Flyover Planes Race

A race for open planes of 350 foot cubic inch piston displacement, or of less than 100 horsepower, called into action a large group of the flyover planes during the afternoon.

Two more air derbies, were completed yesterday. Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell won the women's class. A Pacific derby from her home town, Long Beach, Calif., with an elapsed time of 15 hours, 15 minutes and 18 seconds and a lead of more than five hours over her nearest competitor, Mildred Morgan of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The men's Pacific derby was much closer with John Blum of Seattle, the victory with an elapsed time of 18:24:31.1 from Seattle to Chicago. Mick Manor of Spokane was second with 18:44:44 and Floyd Kendle of Portland third with 19:21:08.

BROCK STARTS FLIGHT

Round World Flier Accompanied by WLW Radio Announcer.

By The Associated Press
METROPOLITAN AIRPORT, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26—William S. Brock, noted Detroit round-the-world flier, took off at 4:55 a. m. today to start the Los Angeles-to-Chicago non-stop aerial race staged as a part of the national air races now being held at the middle western city.

Exactly five minutes later, Lee Shoenhair of Los Angeles, took off. Brock was accompanied by Robert V. Brown, radio announcer of station WLW at Cincinnati, who will broadcast the adventures of the flight enroute to Chicago.

Wiley Post of Oklahoma City, got away at 5:30 a. m. and Roscoe Turner of Los Angeles, pulled into the air at 5:35 a. m.

The fliers predicted they would make their goal in from 9 1/2 to 10 hours, depending upon weather conditions. Post said if he made Chicago in eight hours he would take off immediately again for New York in an effort to better the trans-continental speed record set recently by Frank Hawks. The latter flew from Los Angeles to New York in 12 hours and 25 minutes.

Art Goebel, fifth entrant in the race, announced he would fly his plane, through a series of tests today in preparation for a take-off early tomorrow.

May Link Whalen Death with Murder of Buckley

By The Associated Press
DETROIT, Aug. 26—Police today were considering the theory that the drowning of Francis Whalen early yesterday may have been connected with the killing of Gerald E. (Jerry) Buckley, political radio commentator on July 23.

Whalen, an electrical contractor, was thrown from an automobile into a railroad slip in the Detroit river in the suburb of Ecorse.

The contractor lived at the La Salle hotel, where station WMBC, for which Buckley spoke, is located and where Buckley was shot down in the lobby.

to assume the relief task. They would take loans on easy credit, and endorse them over to the intermediate credit banks.

The corporations would receive two per cent interest above the charge of the intermediate credit banks. Under the present rate of four per cent, the farmer's maximum interest would be six per cent.

Secretary Hyde, who had just returned from a tour of several states, was reluctant to estimate the total which might be needed for drouth relief. An earlier estimate of $20,000,000 he described as "hasty" and said "ten times as much" might be needed while again the original estimate might cover all needs.

Although twelve states had acknowledged invitations to have banking representatives of their respective committees at the meeting, others were expected. West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Texas and Maryland each sent banker-committeemen.

Report Capone Has Eyes on New York Rackets

Officials Think Chicagoan May Be Planning Attempt To "Muscle in" on New Territory; City Now in Throes of Series of Crime Investigations.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 26—America's leading city—New York—is racket ridden.

The press of the city today was headlining over all other news one thing: rackets. A night club owner has mysteriously disappeared and is believed to have been "put on the spot"; the state is engaged in a double inquiry into local food profiteering by racketeers; the supreme court, at the instigation of the governor, has initiated a sweeping probe of the alleged buying and selling of city magistrate appointments and the police are hearing recurring reports that Al Capone, the country's king pin racketeer, is preparing for an invasion of New York City.

Rackets—one after another: the political job-giving racket; the booze racket; the dope racket; the jewelry smuggling racket; the gambling racket; the slot machine racket; the handbook racket; the milk racket; the food racket; the ice racket; the garage racket; and many more rackets.

New York's booze racket—the biggest racket of all—is dominated, according to those "in the know," by three men and Capone, anyone else, has little chance to break in.

This trio is said to be so powerful that only on their "okay" will the liquor fleet—operating daily between Pierre Miquelon island, off Nova Scotia, to Bermuda with "good" British booze—transfer the contraband to rum-running boats that bring the liquor into New York and the Atlantic seaboard. The ocean is charted into 100-mile "territories" and radio orders are sent to these rum-running boats from various headquarters on land. When the booze is brought ashore it is cut from one to four times and then distributed to the trade.

Capone Can't Retire
Capone, according to last advices, was down in Florida, where he owns a palatial mansion on secluded Palm Island. He has stated repeatedly that he is "out of the racket." He wants to retire and be a real estate man. But, grapevine reports have it, his underlings will not let him. He has had as many as 100 men on his personal payroll who have received salaries of from $10 to $25 a day. If he quits they are out of a job. They won't stand for that. Capone can't let go, even though he wants to. He was once reported to have "salted away" here and abroad—approximately $12,000,000.

POLICE SEEK GANGSTER

Hope To Clear Up Disappearance of Hotel Keeper.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 26—The arrest of John (Legs) Diamond, notorious gangster believed en route to Europe, was sought by the police today in an effort to clear up the disappearance of an upstate hotel keeper, believed slain by beer racketeers.

The hotel man, Harry Weston, was last seen at Diamond's country place at Acra, N. Y., early Saturday. Weston, owner of a roadhouse at Lake Katharine, near Kingston, had received a telephone message to drive his car to Diamond's place. The bloodstained car, with an empty shell on the floor, was found yesterday in a Brooklyn garage.

First Polish Ship Nears Shores of America Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—A trans-Atlantic ship flying the flag of Poland was nearing Ambrose light ship today bound for New York harbor. She is the Polonia, the first Polish vessel ever to cross the Atlantic.

This 15,000-ton ship, which carries a distinguished list of Polish officials, symbolizes the fulfilling of a dream nourished in the heart of every Polish patriot for centuries. Poland with a port and as a maritime power, so that she may enter into the world's trade, is the dream come true today.

Partly through the efforts of President Wilson at the treaty of Versailles in 1919, Poland was given 50 miles of coast. It was bog-soaked land with a tiny town on it called Gdynia. Today Gdynia is a thriving Polish seaport of a population of 43,000 and three ships, the Polonia, the Polaski, and the Kosciuszko will carry on from there a regular trans-Atlantic service which was inaugurated today by the Polonia.

Representatives of Polish-American societies will go down the bay in a special cutter to greet the Polonia and an elaborate reception has been planned at the Polish community center.

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—A sign of prosperity is noted by Philip A. Benson, treasurer of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn. It is that the volume in business in savings banks has increased in the last ten months. "The great mass of men are not in the unemployed class and they are saving what money they can."

NEW YORK—George Engles who manages 80 outstanding musicians, says heavy advance concert bookings invariably indicate confidence by the public in business conditions, and the demand for concerts is 20 per cent heavier than a year ago.

LONDON—An inventory filed gives the value of the estate of the Earl of Balfour as $1,385,875.

NEW YORK—Far be it from James W. Gerard to pick any ladies to supplement his list of 64. Why? "Making a list of the ladies would be the most desperate enterprise I can think of. Its author would have to go and hunt big game in Africa. The country wouldn't hold him."

NEW YORK—Mrs. Mahel Walker of Willbrandt dislives the term "woman lawyer." Here to attend the convention of Phi Delta Delta, a women lawyers' organization, she said there are women who are lawyers and those who are not, but there are no "women lawyers," there is no special field of law to which women are particularly adapted.

MANILA—The Bajnos gypsies of the Sulu sea, who are born, live and die in canoes hewn from trees, have flashlights, matches and alarm clocks. Such was noted by Carl N. Taylor, in a study of them.

20 MARIONITES TO ATTEND ELKS' MEET

Annual Convention Draws 500 to Cedar Point in Initial Sessions.

Twenty or more members of Marion Lodge, No. 32, B. P. O. Elks will attend the thirty-second annual convention of the Ohio Elks association at Cedar Point this week. Of that number, some went yesterday to stay the full time until the closing meeting Friday. A party went today and some of the members plan to go Wednesday.

The business session will open Wednesday at 10 a. m. at which time new state officers will be elected. Thursday the huge parade in which more than 1,500 delegates from all over the state are expected to march, will be held and the bathing beauty contest will be put on. Friday morning the newly elected state officers will be installed.

More than 500 Elks had arrived at Cedar Point today, according to an International News Service report. The convention was officially opened last night with an address of welcome by Mayor Charles F. Miller of Sandusky. Blake C. Cook of Kent, past president of the association gave the response.

The Lake Erie Island Elks planned an elaborate program for the delegates today. A boxing show will feature the program tonight.

ART, MUSICComing Wedding Announced
at Dinner-Bridge Affair

THE approaching marriage of Miss Emily W. Burgh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burgh, to Harold C. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thomas of Cherry street, was announced at a charming dinner-bridge affair last evening at the Burgh home at 604 Windsor street. The wedding will be an event of Sunday morning, Sept. 7, at 8:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Yellow and white have been chosen by Miss Burgh for her wedding colors, and formed the predominating color note in the dinner appointments. Dinner was served at small tables centered with yellow rosebuds in crystal vases. A low bowl of the buds was in the center of a large table at which a party of the guests was seated. Mrs. Thomas assisted Mrs. Burgh in serving.

Later, four tables were arranged for a season of bridge. Miss Lucille Conarty and Miss Mary Margaret O'Donnell were presented the awards for high scores.

Guests included employees of the Erie offices, where Miss Burgh is employed, a few other close friends and the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Charles M. Schoenlaub of Beaver, Pa.

Jubilee's Partner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

By JUDITH M. LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday, but nothing much happened. It couldn't. I woke up and laid thinking what a nice grandfather I have got, and wishing I had a grandmother just like him, all but the whiskers, for fellow that have got grandmothers say they are the best things that a kid could have. Then I got up and let Jubilee down by his rope, and went down to milk the cows when I had put on my short britches. Then I milked and fed my face and we all started for the pasture, and there was a big empty lot on the way out where there was a new house going to be built, and there were a lot of round holes about as big as a telegraph pole where they were going to pour cement, but the cement hadn't come or something, so there were not any men there; and when the bunch went back to the road and got in behind the cows and Jubilee was chasing them and barking, I dropped back and snuck over to the holes and jumped in one of them when the bunch weren't looking, to play a trick on them.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

By ADRIAN GARRISON

Made in a Dilemma
I TOOK down the telephone receiver with distinct misgivings. There was no reason why Dicky should telephone, especially when he had promised to be back at four to "give a hand" with the preparations for Mary's party. Had anything happened to upset him? I should soon know, I reflected, when I heard his voice, and I braced myself against possible angry tones. But there was apparently nothing but cordial inquiry in his voice, although I wondered if I fancied an undercurrent of excitement, suppressed, but betraying itself.

Edith Quick to Tell
"I'm sorry," I said quickly. "I should have felt word at the telephone desk that I would be in the dining room for half an hour, but I forgot it. Mary and I were so engrossed in arranging things with Mr. Seibel."

I caught my breath in panic. Not that the query was an unusual one. Dicky always sends me an exquisite corsage bouquet when we are going to any affair requiring such embellishment of a gown. But at this home party for Mary, I had not expected him to think of it, and thus had not felt the uselessness at Philip Veritren's soiree. I was something more important on my mind. I meant to ask you this morning. What gown are you going to wear tonight?

"What's the matter, Auntie Midge?" Mary asked curiously as I came out of the bath. "You look queer—somehow—upset."

Growing to Order

The public asks for more A&P

The tales Americans are the proudest of are those of poor boys who rose to greatness, and of modest business ventures that became great industries.

Like many early American businesses, A&P was once small but hopeful—a single little store. About all A&P could call its own in 1859 was its red painted front and the belief that women like good food at low prices.

The first A&P store was a busy store—so busy that a second store was added, then a third; and . . . the little business grew up. It became a leader among food merchants, slowly and naturally, unaided by vast capital or mergers.

Ask yourself why A&P grew . . . It grew because the public accepted and encouraged A&P's methods of doing business. The A&P store in your neighborhood is there because great numbers of women want it there.

A&P is a little store that made good.

ERIE WINS EXTRA-INNING FRAY, 2 TO 1

WINNING RUN SCORED IN EIGHTH FRAME ON DUO OF BAD ERRORS

Kappas Tie Up Game in Seventh, When Erie Infield Cracks Wide Open; Roy Rice Gives Up Nine Hits, but is Nearly Invincible in Pinches.

By Bob Elliott

Hinklin met Hinklin yesterday about 7 p. m. and when A. I. emerged best the Erie Roundhouse were declared the winners of the second game of the 1930 Little World Series over the Kappas Alpha Phi aggregation by the close count of 2 to 1 in eight innings.

The Kappas had gone scoreless up to the seventh but then Haflich singled and after Rank had gotten him down to second Lusch and Williams bobbled in succession following Pete to score and putting George Hinklin on third with only one out and the top of the batting order up. Gene Geisler strode up the plate took a good old swing and the ball began a journey to left field. Glen Price crouched under it and Mr. Hinklin stood on third base waiting for the catch. As soon as the ball hit Price's hands he tore for home but in came the throw right on the plate and George was out, his brother A. I. blocking the plate like a navy dreadnaught.

Second Time

That was the second time a throw from the outfield saved some embarrassment in this series, and in this case it not only saved some embarrassment, it saved one ball game for the Erie Roundhouse.

The game was hardly up to the opening clash between Lee Street and Calvary for excitement although there was enough yelling going on yesterday for thirty ball games. The Roundhouse supporters were there in full force and what I mean some college missed up on about two all-American cheer-leaders.

Roy Rice gave up nine hits but was invincible in the pinches except the second inning when Joe Lang doubled to score Price with the first Erie run. Price had previously reached base on his infield hit and Haflich's bad throw. Rice allowed Pido Ribbons, the Erie's Bambino to the extent of one hit, an infield bingle that was allowed to roll over the third base sack.

On the other hand Shoemaker was having little trouble with the fraternity boys although his support was helping him out of some pretty tough spots. In the seventh it finally cracked and the Kappas shoved across their lone run. Erie failed to score in the seventh so the game went into extra innings.

Could it Be It

Rife started the Kappas eighth with an infield hit but Woods, M. Hinklin, or H. Geisler couldn't get him to second. In the last half the Roundhouse lost little time in getting started. Sharrock hit the easiest chance possible to M. Hinklin who promptly threw the ball over Haflich's head. Only quick work by Geisler who backed up Pete prevented Sammy from taking an extra base. Robbins crossed up the boys and trickled a hit down the third base line.

Price then hit an easy grounder to Geisler at second who muffed the chance and then threw the ball away trying to catch Glen at first, Sharrock crossing the plate with the winning run.

Johnny Rife and Pete Haflich collected four of the six Kappa hits, all singles. In addition Rife worked a walk. Johnny also played a nice defensive game, accepting four chances in centerfield. Joe Lang and Glen Price banded out two hits apiece for the winners, Lang's including a double.

Sammy Sharrock looked good out in the shortfield, taking a half dozen chances without a boggle. He started a double play in the fifth that possibly cut off a Kappa rally.

Play Calvary Friday

The Roundhouse team was more or less of a disappointment although no credit can be taken away from Rice's great hurling of the Kappas' desperate bid for a victory. They saw their chance as the underdogs to come through and they almost did but not quite, so next Friday they'll battle Calvary for the right to remain in the series.

Roundhouse tackles Lee Street Wednesday and they're in for a tough evening.

Mr. Walsh Also Tells Us About Jewel Ens' Troubles in Smoky City.

By Davis J. Walsh

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Word is being bandied about today that Jewel Ens, who became manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates last year before his presence of mind could come to the rescue, may finish on the shady side of the eight-ball as far as the 1931 season is concerned, which reminds me that the Giants are back home with John McGraw after their collapse in Chicago. In order to keep the record straight, the Giants alone collapsed in Chicago. McGraw was exclusive. He did his collapsing here.

Anyhow, it is not my purpose to compare Mr. McGraw with Jewel Ens, who after all never suspected he was a manager until Barney Dreyfuss told him he was; yet the fact is that Ens will do no worse than fourth with a fourth-place club—considering its sundry injuries—whereas Mr. McGraw seems about to finish second with the best team in the National League, if not in all baseball.

Not Yet

I wouldn't care to say that the parade, so to speak, has passed Mr. McGraw. He has won no pennants in six years but he hasn't lost this one yet and, besides, it has always been a principle with me to make sure that a man is down before you kick him. Assuming that the Cubs will win this time—and, after all, one is entitled to assume something for a team that wins six out of eight from the two clubs it has to beat—the test of McGraw and his type of leadership must come no later than 1931. If he loses again with the same outfit now under his control, he will go down in the minds of a lot of people as a losing manager.

The 1930 Giants are a young ball club and they ought to be better for another year of experience together. They at present are hitting away out beyond any rival in Continued on Page Seventeen

CHINESE STAR

Walter Achlu, above, is the wrestling Chinaman who will show his wares before local fans in the all-star wrestling show to be presented by the Convention committee of Marion Labor Day at Crystal Lake Park. Achlu meets Jack Gorman, the Toledo terror, in the opening match, a one-fall 30-minute time limit set.

Achlu is a noted football player, having performed in the backfield for the University of Dayton. After and after he graduated, for the Portsmouth Spartans. While with the latter team he divided the playing time at quarter with Chuck Bennett, Indiana's all-American.

In the headliner Labor Day, Jack Reynolds defends his world's welterweight title against Yaqul Joe. The other match pits Joe Banaski against Frank Wolf of Australia in what may turn out to be the evening's feature.

Tickets can be secured at the Markert and Lewis Haberdashery.

KIRKMAN NAMED

By International News Service CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—Roger ("Red") Kirkman, former football and basketball star at Washington and Jefferson college, will be head basketball coach and freshman grid mentor at John Carroll university this fall. It was announced here today by Reverend A. H. Bennett, who recently was named athletic director at the college.

SAD SAM TOO TOUGH FOR MACKS AS HE WINS SIXTH IN ROW

Woodsfield, Ohio Star, Limits A's to Six Hits; Beats Lefty Grove.

Back in 1915 a youth of 23 years, with a mediocre minor league record, and answering to the name of Samuel Pond Jones, made his bow to major league baseball as a member of the Cleveland Indians.

The boy from Woodsfield, Ohio, who cost the Indians $800, wandered in the American league, from Cleveland to Boston, New York, St. Louis and finally to Washington. Before he reached the Senators in 1927 his name had been shortened to "Sad Sam." Maybe it was because of the expression on his face, or his ability to spread grief among opposing batsmen.

Sad Sam is still in Washington, spreading grief, especially among the Philadelphia Athletics. Jones accounted for his sixth straight game, in five of which he started and finished, yesterday in downing the Athletics 3 to 2. Lefty Grove was opposing him but Sad Sam set the champions down with only six hits and broke Grove's string of eight consecutive triumphs.

Home Run Gives Richmond Team Decision Over Locals.

Marion Eagle baseball players saw a tough battle go from their hands into the Richmond Independent last Sunday at the latter's diamond when Johnson, the home team catcher, pounded a home run in the last of the eighth, winning the game, 2 to 1. Both teams collected four hits and made one error.

BOXERS TRAINING

By International News Service CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—George Godfrey, giant Philadelphia boxer, and Arthur DeKub, Brooklyn nauter, were to go through light workouts here today in preparation for their 10-round bout which will be a feature of the Taylor bowl boxing card tonight.

All-Star Nines in Dark Until End of Series

DUE to extremely close races for several positions the Star's all-city recreation teams will not be announced until the end of the Little World Series. Several positions will be determined by the contestants' play in the remaining games of the series.

The two first team pitchers, second base, third base, shortstop and two of the outfielders were determined at the meeting of the four World Series umpires last Friday night. However, the other three positions are open yet and the series will decide it.

If present plans go through, the first and second all-city teams will play a game after the close of the series with Bert Curtis managing the first stringers and Ray Smallwood in charge of the second team. As the teams stand now there isn't a whole lot of difference between the two and some fans may even think the second team stronger.

At least the pitchers are even-strengthened with any one of the four on the first two teams capable of hurling close to no-hit ball. The infielders are so close in comparison that an edge can hardly be given the first nine. The first string outfield has a decided advantage, however, and it may prove to benefit of Ballyhoo or bugles. But when the final returns of the decathlon came in just before sun-down after more than eight hours of running, jumping, vaulting and throwing things, Hall was third and his skinny sidekick, Munger, was fifth.

Both Rothert, who represented the Olympic club of San Francisco, and Hall demonstrated in their first attempt at decathlon performances that they have great possibilities.

Rothers was more or less of a known quantity because of his weight throwing exploits as a member of the Stanford track team, but Hall took everyone by surprise.

A senior next year at Florida, Hall never competed in either track or football before going to college. Once his ability was discovered by Coach Nash Higgins, he became something of a one-man track team.

be the determining factor in naming the winner of the all-star game.

With Curtis and Smallwood as pilots the fans should at least see some high-powered strategy in force; in fact, it may be so high-powered that it won't even work. These two veterans worked together on the Serv-U-Wel team and the result was astonishing. The game should be worth watching, however, and it may prove to

STOCK MARKET IN DULL WEEK

Traders Leaving Already for Extended Vacation Over Labor Day.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Industrial and utility stocks drifted aimlessly through an extremely narrow range in a dull and featureless session this morning. The second session of the "dullest week in the year" showed little or no change from that of yesterday and only a handful of the well-known shares appeared with any prominence on the tape. Traders were already reeling for an extended "week-end" vacation over the Labor Day interval.

Industrials and specialties which were under fire at Monday's close slipped back a point or two in the first hour, but the absence of buying demand encouraged the bears to offer stocks more freely. Standard Oil of New Jersey broke under the continuance of its downward slide. Radio lost a point. Loews was a strong leader in the amusement group and rallied under good demand to 7 1/2. United States Steel and American Can were able to maintain fractionally higher prices, but the bulk of the rails and copper sold lower. The bears trained their guns on Radio in the second hour and forced that stock under 2 for a loss of more than a point. Industrial and business reports were generally unchanged. Further slight increases are expected in the weekly steel production reports, and a small increase in copper buying. Call money was unchanged at 2 per cent, with "outside" funds available at 1 1/4 per cent.

THE LOW COST OF FIRE INSURANCE

WHEN you buy fire insurance you pay for indemnity against loss. But each dollar buys so much more than mere indemnity that it easily ranks as one of the most effective you spend. You pay for reimbursement; you receive protection—before and after fire.

Stock Fire Insurance, even when considered as indemnity only, is one of the cheapest of present-day necessities. While the general price trend was upward, the average rate charged for fire insurance was downward. For more than twenty years the average cost in this country has consistently declined.

Notwithstanding this reduction in cost, the services rendered by the more than 250 stock companies constituting the National Board of Fire Underwriters have been increasing in number and scope.

For Good Measure:

For good measure, in addition to indemnity, these companies provide engineering and research that make life and property safer; great laboratories in which to test materials and devices; scientific measurement of fire hazards; building construction codes; arson detection and investigation; organized fire prevention—a multiplicity of activities designed to prevent the losses which no amount of insurance can ever repay.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

provides funds for rebuilding and replacement when calamity overtakes the policyholder. But far beyond that in value, to individual and to public, is the constant fight that is being waged to preserve the savings and investments of America's millions. A greater use of the facilities thus provided will add to the priceless results of true conservation.
